DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Applicant's claim for the benefit of a prior-filed application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) or under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c) is acknowledged. Applicant has not complied with one or more conditions for receiving the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120 as follows:

This application is claiming the benefit of prior-filed nonprovisional application No. 09/022,869 under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c). Copendency between the current application and the prior application is required. Since the applications are not copending, the benefit claim to the prior-filed nonprovisional application is improper. Applicant is required to delete the reference to the prior-filed application from the first sentence(s) of the specification, or the application data sheet, depending on where the reference was originally submitted, unless applicant can establish copendency between the applications.

Upon further review, the original preliminary amendment merely stated that this application was a divisional application of the above noted application and related to application S.N. 10/310,203. The subsequent amendment setting forth the intended continuity was submitted over one year from the filing date of the instant application. The mere statement that this case is related to 10/310,203 is insufficient to establish such intended continuity (see MPEP 201.11(III)(A)). Accordingly, a petition is required to establish such continuity [see 37 CFR 1.78(a)(2)(ii)].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3739

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 39-41, 66-68, 71, 73, 74, and 79 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Paton et al (2002/0091385). In light of the above priority issue, the published application is prior art against the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 71 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Auth (4,492,231) in view of Goble et al (5,451,224). The basic forceps is disclosed in Figure 2 and includes a stop member 60 (i.e., a lug) as detailed at column 7, line 25+. The stop is selectable to be a specific thickness as set forth at column 7, lines 66-67. This infers the stop may be replaced (i.e., removable) for the intended procedure. The reference fails to disclose the electrodes on the tips of the arms. Such a feature is disclosed by Goble et al in Figure 4. Given such a teaching, it would have been obvious to the skilled artisan to employ electrodes on the tips of Auth to effect superior treatment since a predictable result would ensue.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 28, 2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 3739

With respect to the priority claim, the application was not filed as a continuation of 10/310,203. The subsequent amendment setting forth the intended continuity was submitted over one year from the filing date of the instant application. Accordingly, a petition is required to perfect such priority as detailed at MPEP 201.11(III)(E).

As to the prior art rejection of claim 71 over Auth and Goble et al, the rejection is still deemed to be proper. The lug in Auth would clearly effect the intended capability of the lug as claimed (i.e., prevent overexertion) since it would inherently preclude overexertion of pressure. No structure of the lug is presented that differentiates it from the lug of the reference. In addition, the use of electrode tips is deemed to have been a well known structure in the art as disclosed by Goble et al and nothing more than an obvious design expedient to one of ordinary skill to employ in the Auth forceps.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
